KOSMIK KAYFABIZARRO KOLLEKTIVE (VOL II)

Print. Cut. Play.
Sabotage the Galactic Hegemony.

What the
FLUFF?!

FLEET FODDER: THE PESTS & THE POSTMEN

Expendable meat in highly expensive tin cans.

THE NEEDLE (Scout)

POWER: Play to view opponent's hand. If caught, discard your entire deck.

LORE: The first thing in any system that matters. Everything awful that follows begins with their report.

THE WHISPER (Vael Variant)

POWER: Bypass all electronic traps. The ship literally out-vibes the radar.

LORE: Piloted by a "young" Vael—which means it's only been alive for a few centuries.

Stay fluffy!

THE FANG (Ossian Variant)

POWER: Deal 2 damage to a neutral target just to establish dominance.

LORE: Ossian scouts interpret "survey the system" as "establish the Hegemony's claim by shooting the scenery."

THE ARROW (Courier)

POWER: Move an objective instantly. The ship takes 1 damage per transit until it vaporizes.

LORE: The galaxy's nervous system, crewed by fatalists hauling diplomatic secrets worth more than their lives.

SPACE JUNK FOREVER

GW

Georg v. Westphalen

FLEET FODDER: THE GRUNT WORKERS

The blood, sweat, and gears of cosmic capitalism.

THE HAULER (Freighter)

POWER: Generate 3 Resource tokens. Extrapolate opponent's strategy based on their discards.

LORE: The circulatory system of a dying galaxy. If they stop arriving, the sector is already dead.

THE LANCE (Escort)

POWER: Block one attack against a Hauler. Farm mid-level management stress.

LORE: Where junior officers learn to juggle combat, politics, and broken engines before they inevitably get court-martialed.

THE REAVER (Ossian Lance)

POWER: Double attack power, half defense. Cannot retreat. Ever.

LORE: Pure, unadulterated aggression shoved into an undersized hull.

COMMERCE PROTECTOR (Dreshkai Lance)

POWER: Cancel opponent's attack by burying them in legal injunctions and electronic warfare.

LORE: Why fire a torpedo when you can just delete the enemy's bank account from orbit?

KayfaBIZARRO!

FLEET FODDER: THE IMPERIAL HAMMERS

For when you absolutely must bankrupt your own civilization to make a point.

THE THRONE (Capital Ship)

POWER: Instantly claim a system. Opponent must spend 5 turns complaining to the galactic UN.
LORE: A floating geopolitical argument. Too expensive to lose, too massive to hide.

WARLORD-CLASS (Ossian Throne)

POWER: Eradicate target system. Costs the industrial output of your entire hand.
LORE: A ship with a kill-count so high it constitutes a distinct gravitational anomaly.

THE WORLD (Ark)

POWER: Relocates your home base. Becomes politically immune to standard attacks.
LORE: A sovereign community in transit. The ultimate geopolitical headache for every border guard.

THE SHADOW (Ghost Ship)

POWER: Execute an action completely off the record. If accused, deny everything.
LORE: Officially, it doesn't exist. Unofficially, it just overthrew your planetary government.

THE REAL ESTATE TRAP: BLOOD & IRON

Location, location, exploitation!

THE CRADLE WORLD

POWER: Generate infinite diplomatic disputes. Draw 2 conflict cards per turn.
LORE: A paradise that everyone wants, resulting in an eternal, bloody stalemate. Only 1,200 exist; 40 caused wars.

THE FORGE WORLD

POWER: Triple production speed, but discard 1 population card every turn.
LORE: Where civilizations dump their working class to breathe heavy metals and build empires.

THE TOMB WORLD

POWER: Draw a high-level Tech card. Flip a coin; on tails, your active crew dies horribly.
LORE: The galaxy's archaeological record. What killed them is probably still down there waiting for you.

THE BLOOM WORLD

POWER: Terraforms target zone. No non-Mycel cards can be played here ever again.
LORE: A Mycel biological weapon disguised as agriculture. Unstoppable, inevitable ecology.

THE REAL ESTATE TRAP: SCUM & WEIRDNESS

Where the maps stop and the drinking begins.

THE VOID STATION

POWER: Swap hands with an opponent in the neutral zone. Ignore all faction laws.

LORE: A cosmopolitan cesspool where bartenders have better geopolitical intel than four-star admirals.

THE ANOMALY WORLD

POWER: Roll a die. Whatever happens, the Dreshkai insurance actuaries won't cover it.

LORE: The world that breaks the physics engine. Careers end here; legends begin here.

OVERLAPPING CLAIM (Diplomatic Zone)

POWER: Freeze target planet. No one can use it until a treaty is broken.

LORE: A legal dispute maintained for 12,000 years. Peace through mutual bureaucratic exhaustion.

THE IRONWORKERS' COMPACT (Historical Site)

POWER: Instigate a labor strike on opponent's Forge World. Production halts.

LORE: 8,400 years ago, the working class struck fear into warlords. The only good thing the Hegemony ever did.

CAREER ENDERS: MEDDLING & STEALING

Get paid to make things worse.

KayfaBIZARRO!

FIRST CONTACT

POWER: Introduce a new rule to the game. Neither player understands how it works yet.
LORE: Making civilizational choices with zero precedent. 17 successes, 9 wars, 2 dead crews. High risk of getting eaten.

THE RETRIEVAL

POWER: Steal an artifact from opponent's discard pile. Claim it was yours all along.
LORE: The fine line between "legitimate recovery" and "state-sponsored piracy."

THE LONG SURVEY

POWER: Skip two turns. Return with a massive hand advantage and severe social anxiety.
LORE: Years in isolation treating phenomena as data points. They make terrible dinner guests.

THE INTERVENTION

POWER: Sabotage an opponent's play, completely off the record.
LORE: Changing the course of history while leaving zero receipts. 60% of all politics is just this.

NO MASTERS

WATCHING EYES

SYSTEM CRASH

CAREER ENDERS: RUNNING & PRAYING

Drive fast, ignore the lasers, hope for the best.

THE BLOCKADE RUN

POWER: Force a delivery through an opponent's defense. Survive on sheer luck.
LORE: Because access is a right that force can deny, but cannot legitimise denying.

THE MISSING SURVEY TEAM

POWER: Place on an anomaly. Any opponent who lands here loses a turn to sheer dread.
LORE: Their final transmissions are the only data we have. We wish we didn't have them.

DEEP FRONTIER MISSION

POWER: Draw blindly from the deck. You might win the game, you might instantly die.
LORE: The charts end here. The win condition is simply coming back alive.

THE CLASSIFIED BRIEFING

POWER: Lock down a piece of information. All six players must agree to reveal it (they won't). LORE: The intel the six powers collectively agreed is too terrifying to exploit. Achieved exactly once in 12,000 years.

HUMBUG!

THE WEIRD SHIT: HOLES IN THE MAP

Spacetime is Swiss cheese, and the mice are massive.

STABLE TRANSIT POINT

POWER: Teleport across the board instantly. No fuel cost.
LORE: Eight exist. One is natural. Seven show signs of engineering. The Vael refuse to elaborate.

BREATHING GATE

POWER: Portal opens randomly. Transit is pure gambling.
LORE: Its transit window is a matter of timing; its destination is a matter of prayer.

EVENT SCAR

POWER: Drive architectures interact with this unpredictably. Reroll all dice.

LORE: The wound left behind by a cosmic explosion—or something far worse that didn't make the history books.

THE SINGING SYSTEMS

POWER: Hypnotize opponent's navigation.
LORE: A 40,000-year-old structured broadcast. It's not a song. It's navigational infrastructure. But for who?

THE WEIRD SHIT: THINGS IN THE DARK

Do not draw conclusions yet. Or ever.

THE DRIFT

POWER: Reduce visibility. Opponent plays next card blind.
LORE: It is not empty. The things inside know you are there. It is larger on the inside.

GREY MIGRATION

POWER: Unstoppable force. Ignore all obstacles and defenses in this column.
LORE: They don't deviate for obstacles. Obstacles deviate for them.

THE RESONANCE

POWER: A pulsing 11,000-year timer. When it triggers, reset the board.
LORE: A gravitational oscillation from something impossibly huge. The Vael have been measuring it for 30,000 years.

THE MEMORY WORLDS

POWER: Force an opponent to play using your strategy from three turns ago.
LORE: You remember things that didn't happen to you. The Mycel know why, and they are terrified.

KayfaBIZARRO!

Georg v. Westphalen

REALITY HACKING: THE BASIC CHEATS

Break the laws of physics, safely(ish).

THE FOLD DRIVE

POWER: Move fast, burn stellarite. Leave a highly detectable energy wake.
LORE: Twelve thousand years old. The standard cheat code for an agonizingly vast universe.

BIOTIC INTEGRATION

POWER: Upgrade one unit. Statistically likely to either become a god or explode.
LORE: Merging flesh and metal until neither substrate remembers what it used to be.

ENTANGLEMENT NETWORK

POWER: Instant communication. Bypass Courier transit times.
LORE: The Dreshkai's second-largest revenue stream. Physics monetized to the maximum.

SORN ARCHIVIST PROCESS

POWER: Transfer consciousness. Survive physical destruction.
LORE: The ultimate biological cheat code: turning your mind into software.

Stay fluffy!

GW

Georg v. Westphalen

REALITY HACKING: THE DANGEROUS CHEATS

The buttons you really shouldn't press.

NO RULES!
VOID SKETCH

PRIOR-ARCHITECTURE (Reverse Engineering)

Rock Salt

POWER: Risk total annihilation for a +10 advantage.

LORS: Replicating the Prior's tech will instantly break the galactic balance of power. Everyone is trying; everyone is terrified.

CONSCIOUSNESS TRANSFER

Rock Salt

POWER: Swap control of two units. Warning: Identity integrity cannot be verified.

LORS: The most philosophically contested tech. Did you arrive, or just a copy of you?

STELLAR ENGINEERING

Rock Salt

POWER: Alter the lifecycle of a star. Use it as a weapon or a battery.

LORS: The Ossian Hegemony has a classified weapons program for this. Try not to think about it.

THE MEMORY TECHNOLOGY

Rock Salt

POWER: Recover information stored in the physical structure of the galaxy.

LORE: The oldest nodes are digging up memories that predate all current civilizations.

SYSTEM FAILURE

GW

Georg v. Westphalen

THE PLAYERS: THE PUPPET MASTERS

The suits, the soldiers, the spooks, and the snobs.

DRESHKAI COMMUNION

POWER: Monopolize trade routes. Win via compound interest and insurance fraud.
LORE: Commerce is a weapon. They own the networks, they set the rates, they own you.

OSSIAN HEGEMONY

POWER: Absolute military dominance. Every negotiation is a hostage situation.
LORE: Militarily directed, hierarchically organized, spectacularly productive in the art of killing.

THE VAEI

POWER: Ignore the rules of the game entirely because you know a secret.
LORE: They don't need Capital Ships. They are the Capital Ships. They know what's coming.

THE SORN

POWER: Harvest data from every action played. Hoard the galaxy's secrets.
LORE: The ultimate archivists. They pay premium rates for uncertainty reduction.

KayfaBONGO!

BLÖDSINN!

THE UNBOUND

POWER: Improvise. Adapt. Field-expedient modifications that bypass regulations.

LORE: Access is a right. Dispersed, decentralized, and utterly impossible to govern.

THE PRIOR (Ancient Builders)

POWER: Leave behind ancient artifacts that drive current civilizations insane.

LORE: They modified the galactic core, left behind stable wormholes, and vanished. Or did they?

THE PLAYERS: THE WILDCARDS

The punks, the plants, and the ghosts of the past.

THE MYCEL VERDANCY

POWER: Spread network presence. Overtake enemy tiles passively.

LORE: Their terraforming is irreversible. They are the galaxy's memory, running on spores.

THE FRUITING BODIES

POWER: Engage in diplomacy while the network secretly devours the planet underground.

LORE: The face the network shows you while it eats the soil beneath your feet.

THE ENDGAME: CLASSIFIED TRUTHS

Read this and you will legally be dead.

THE RESONANCE ARRAYS

POWER: Harness the 11,000-year frequency. End the current era.
LORE: They aren't just observing the Resonance. They are designed to interact with it.

GALACTIC CORE OBSERVATORY

POWER: Look into the deep past. See what's coming.
LORE: The oldest observatory in the galaxy. What exactly was it built to watch for?

THE VAEI'S DEEP ARCHIVE

POWER: Uncover the galaxy's final secret. Game over.
LORE: The Vael's unshared archive. The Sorn couldn't steal it; the Dreshkai couldn't buy it.

THE THIRTY-THOUSAND-YEAR NOTE

POWER: The Vael haven't updated this file in 30,000 years. Because the answer hasn't changed.
