

STAY FLUFFY!

THE ANTI-RULES MANIFESTO

For People Who Panic When the Adults Leave the Room.

Some people relax when rules disappear. Others start sweating. This is for the sweaters.

THE WARNING

Approved by Nobody.
Status: Optional Add-On.
Components: None (That is not a joke).

THE DISCLAIMER

THE PROMISE

THE VIBE

AGENTS OF ORDER

Stop Asking What is Right. Start Noticing What Works.

THE RULES LAWYER

Power: Objection! Play this card to demand a player cite a non-existent rule. If they hesitate, their action fails.

Lore: Cry harder, Esq.

R
A
F

THE OPTIMIZER

Power: Efficiency Protocol: You may reroll a die, but your story narration must be devoid of fun or flavor.

Lore: Nothing breaks faster than trying to weaponize ambiguity.

A
F

THE NERVOUS BEGINNER

Power: Panic Check: Ask "Is this right?" If anyone answers "Yes," discard this card and ignore the consequences.

Lore: Confusing clarity with safety.

A
F

THE AUTHORITY FIGURE

Power: The Veto: Cancel a Move that is "too fun" on the grounds that it isn't "optimal."

Lore: Authority sneaks back in wearing a helpful voice.

F

HUMBUG!

SYMPTOMS OF CERTAINTY

The Panic is Part of the Game State.

THE PANIC

/
A
/
F

Internal Scream: If a die rolls off the table, you must freeze until someone tells you it's okay.

Lore: For those who freeze when meaning is not externally validated.

THE CRUTCH

/
A
/
F

Dependency: You cannot take an Action unless another player gives you permission first.

Lore: Stabilize play when certainty becomes a crutch.

THE SWEAT

/
A
/
F

Slippery Dice: Reroll any 6. You cannot handle success without questioning it.

Lore: Others start sweating. This booklet is for them.

THE SILENCE

/
A
/
F

The Void: Play when the table stalls. Silence counts as a valid turn.

Lore: A controlled void. A moment where players stop asking.

KayfaBOGGLE!

THE ANTI-RULES (SET A)

These Are Not Enforced. They Are Noticed.

R
A
F

THE LOST WINNER

Power: Forfeit: Give this card to anyone discussing "Victory Points." They lose their next turn.

Lore: Whoever asks how to win has already lost.

A
F

R
A
F

THE NONSENSE STATE

Power: Valid Move: Play to justify an action that defies logic but feels right.

Lore: BLÖDSINN is not a mistake. It is a state.

A
F

R
A
F

THE EFFECTIVE MOVE

Power: Pragmatism: Ignore a rule if the result creates a better story.

Lore: Nobody is right. Some things are effective.

A
F

R
A
F

THE AMNESIA

Power: Reset: Ignore the precedent set by the previous turn. We start fresh.

Lore: The game remembers nothing. The players do.

A
F

THE CORRECT NONSENSE

Power: Reality check:
If the table laughs,
your roll succeeds automatically.

Lore: If it makes no sense, it may be correct.

R

TOOLS OF SABOTAGE

Costumes. Not Rules.

R
A
F

The Red Pen

Power

Editor: Physically cross out one word on a Stage Card. It is gone forever.

Lore

Hand-written rule lists and crossed-out instructions.

R
A
F

The 'Final' Draft

Power

Revision: Change the Quest Goal immediately after the dice are rolled.

Lore

Documents labeled 'FINAL' and immediately contradicted.

R
A
F

The Fake Stamp

Power

Validation: Play to approve a move that the 'Rules Lawyer' hates.

Lore

Fake approval stamps.

R
A
F

The Disclaimer

Power

Loophole: Avoid a consequence by claiming you read the fine print.

Lore

Pseudo-legal disclaimers.

THE META-TERRAIN

Where the Game Actually Takes Place.

THE TABLE

Power: Declaration: Read one Anti-Rule aloud. No discussion allowed.

Lore: As a Table Declaration.

THE CONTROLLED VOID

Power: Absence: Remove a card from the Stage. Replace it with nothing. Narrate the gap.

Lore: A deliberate absence of authority.

THE SHARED ATTENTION

Power: Focus: If everyone looks at you, +1 to your Roll.

Lore: Re-anchor play in shared attention instead of correctness.

THE SAFETY RAIL

Power: Risk: Ask "Safer from what?" If nobody answers, take a token.

Lore: If a rule makes you feel safer, ask yourself: Safer from what?

FAILURE MODES

Expected and Acceptable Outcomes.

BLÖDSINN!

NERVOUS LAUGHTER

Power: Tension Break: Play when someone laughs nervously. You both draw a card.
Lore: Someone laughs nervously. This indicates correct operation.

BAD DESIGN

Power: Critique: Claim this is 'Bad Design.' Reroll your die.

Lore: Someone claims this is bad design.

THE STALL

Power: Intervention: Play when the table stalls. The Anti-Rule stands in the room like a smell.

Lore: When the table stalls... invoke an Anti-Rule.

THE RAGE QUIT

Power: Stop: Any player may play this to Stop Trying to Win. They are now just telling stories.

Lore: Someone stops trying to win.
